

Hope Star

VOLUME 38—NUMBER 195

(AP)—Maha Associated Press
(ASA)—Maha Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n

HOPE, ARKANSAS, THURAY, JUNE 9, 1932

Star of Hope founded 1859; Hope Daily Press,
1871. Consolidated as Hope Star, January 18, 1920.

PRICE 5¢ C.O.P.

HARRIS GIVEN 50 YEAR TERM

Fair Is Suspended;
Owes $3,500 and
Cannot Continue

Association Announces the Closing of Oldest Exhibition in State

LOST FOR TWO YEARS

Revenues From Admissions and Concessions
Dropped Heavily

Suspension of the Southwest Arkansas Fair, the oldest district agricultural exhibition in the state, with a deficit from the last two years amounting to $3,500, was announced Thursday by the Fair association.

In a formal statement to its creditors, including many unpaid premium-winners, the Fair group recalled that it was a non-profit organization existing entirely upon the gate-receipts and concession revenues obtained from the annual Fair.

Heavy losses in 1930, and an additional loss last year, destroyed both cash and credit, making continuation of the show this year impossible, the statement said. Many fairs have suffered a similar fate within the last year.

The statement read as follows:

"To the creditors of Southwest Arkansas Fair Association:

"The Fair which has been held in Hope annually for several years was operated by the 'Hempstead County Fair Association' until the year 1928. At that time its scope and territory was enlarged to cover several counties in Southwest Arkansas and its name changed to 'Southwest Arkansas Fair Association'."

"During the years of 1928 and 1929 when business and farm conditions were normal, the Fair was successful. On account of the extensive drought and other unfavorable conditions over which no one had control in 1930 the Fair showed an ~~substantial~~ deficit of over $2,800.

"In 1931 the operating expenses were greatly reduced and another Fair attempted with the hope that it would make a profit and pay off some of the deficit incurred the previous year. Conditions grew worse instead of better and the gate receipts were so small that the Fair lacked nearly $700 paying current expenses. This, together with the 1930 deficit, make total unpaid obligations nearly $3,500."

"The Association has no assets, and being entirely dependent upon gate receipts and concessions from the Fair it finds that it is unable to discharge its obligations. The Association has also decided that it will be utterly impossible to continue the Fair until future years when conditions are improved."

Southwest Arkansas Fair Assn."

Two Witnesses in
Egan Case Missing

Prosecutor Uneasy Over
Disappearances; Murderers Arraigned

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The unexplained disappearance of two important witnesses against Frank J. Egan, suspended public defender, and two of his followers charged with murdering Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes, friend and benefactress of Egan, made prosecuting officers uneasy Wednesday.

Egan and his accused employers were arraigned but they withheld their pleas and were ordered to appear June 14. As Egan was being led to the courtroom from his cell a man sprang from a row of spectators screaming:

"So they got you at last. I'm one of your victims."

Police said the man was Edward J. Cook, whose late wife was a client of Egan's. Her death last February was attributed to overindulgence in alcohol drink.

Cook dissatisfied with the circumstances, demanded an accounting of Egan for $8,000 which he said he (Cook) had given Mrs. Cook.

Officers led the man away but he continued to shout. Egan paled as the man sprang at him, but said nothing. The other accused, Vernon Doran and Albert Tinnin, were silent.

Deputy District Attorney J. M. Golden said his case against the ousted public official would be "weakened" without the witnesses. He declined to name them.

The trio was indicted after Doran, former chauffeur for Egan, confessed he and Tinnin killed Mrs. Hughes on Egan's orders.

Bakers of Five Cities
Here on Wednesday

A wet-together meeting of bakers from Texarkana, Atlanta, Magnolia, Newell and Prescott was held at the New Capital Hotel Wednesday, with Roy Jones of the City Bakery presiding. Business problems were discussed and there was no public pronouncement, Jones said.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

Queen of Texas Bonus Army

"Queen of Texas' 'bonus army,'" was the title bestowed on Mary Arnold, 23, pretty brown-eyed wife of C. S. Arnold, Atlanta, Ga., World War veteran, when she enlisted with her husband for the march to Washington. She is the only woman known to be with the "army." Here you see her, attired in overalls, smiling a farewell to Dallas, Texas, when the long trek started by box car. At her right is her husband, war-time dispatch rider of the 116th field artillery. They abandoned a placer mine in Arizona to join the "march," making their first hitch by refrigerator car.

McAdoo Proposes Prohi Repeal Vote

Socialist Policies Installed in Chile

Taxes Suspended on Prop- erties Where Owners Are Not Able to Pay

SANTIAGO, Chile—(AP)—Chile's new government began to put Socialist policies into operation Thursday.

The Central bank, created in 1926 on the advice of Prof. E. W. Kemmerer, American financial adviser, was taken over and its board of directors dismissed.

Provincial authorities directed to suspend taxes on properties whose owners were unable to pay them.

School teachers were informed by the Minister of Education that the important part of their duty henceforth would be to "direct their education toward Socialism; in order to form a public conscience which will support the new Socialist Republic."

Called by the new president shortly after his inauguration, March 4, 1933 and that the president was empowered to proclaim a national advisory referendum, after 90 days notice, upon such question as the following:

"Shall the Eighteenth amendment be repealed? Vote 'Yes' or 'No.'

"Shall the Eighteenth amendment be amended to empower Congress to regulate or prohibit the liquor traffic? Vote 'Yes' or 'No.'

He suggested any other means such as resubmission, repeal or modification would take years to accomplish.

"President Wilson," he said "thought it unwise to incorporate prohibition in the amendment itself."

Arkansas Flier Is Killed in Accident

Plane Falls as Pair Pre- pare to Land for Fishing Trip Wednesday

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—H. A. Graham was fatally injured and Cecil Franklin critically hurt in an airplane crash as they landed near Toltec, about 15 miles from here, late Wednesday. Both the men, who were licensed pilots, lived in Little Rock.

Graham died in a hospital here, where he was rushed by a motorist.

Light hope was held for the recovery of Franklin also brought here.

They left here about 4:15 p. m. in a monoplane for a fishing trip to Mound lake near Toltec.

Although safety favoring outright repeal is not so strongly manifested in the convention the president made, that he is opposed to unequal deal. What he has agreed to is the "idle-of-the-road" proposal about to stand from the position of the voting unqualified retention amendment to wets favoring the other.

The Moses' designed to hold the wets in line alienating the drys. The general among the Republicans lead is that this will be the "idle-of-the-road" plank that will emerge from the convention. Two reports are expected to go to the convention. Douglas Murray Butler presumably submit the minority report of the proposed a definite declaration. With Senator William E. of Idaho declining to attend the drys have no outstretched champion of their minority.

"We only ask that all people hear both sides of the question—if they have read the many insinuations emanating from various political sounding boards; then we only ask that they hear Mr. Blackwood's answer before making any decision."

Masons Will Hold Meeting Friday Night

A Fellowcraft degree will be conferred at a meeting of the Masonic Lodge Friday night, according to an announcement by one of the officials.

All members are urged to attend.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

People who save for a rainy day, sometimes are rewarded by wonderful presents.

All members are urged to attend.

Gangster Sought in Lindbergh Case Appears Thursday

Questioned Several Hours but Shrugs Shoulders in Answer to Them

PICTURES ARE TAKEN

Prosecutor Says Fleisher Also Wanted on Liquor Charges

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—Harry Fleisher, sought for many months in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and Detroit's Collingwood Apartment massacre, surrendered Thursday, arriving at police headquarters with two attorneys.

He was taken to the office of Prosecutor Harry Toy and emerged later to have pictures taken of himself for newspapers and for a party of reporters to question him as to whether he had been in Canada or Mexico.

He met questions of whether he had anything to do with the Lindbergh kidnapping or the Collingwood massacre with shrugs of his shoulders.

Attorneys for Fleisher said he had an alibi for the Collingwood killing.

He appeared nervous as he was being questioned by the reporters.

Prosecutor Toy said that Fleisher was wanted on a prohibited hours to go before the primary lists were closed.

The deadline is midnight Thursday night.

Newcomers are divided among the sheriff, circuit clerk, and legislative races, putting four candidates in each.

Jim Dodson, of Hope, qualified as a candidate for sheriff, where three others preceded him; John L. Wilson, Jim Bearden and Simon Sutton, all of Hope.

Bonner Barrow, of Ozan, sprang a surprise by entering the circuit clerk race against three opponents: Miss Little Middlebrooks, Dale C. Jones and D. B. Thompson, all of Hope.

Emily Thompson, of Fulton, entered the representative's race, bringing this list to four. Opposed to him are: A. C. Holt, of Tokio; I. L. Pilkington and L. F. Monroe, both of Washington.

In the township races, DeRoan has five candidates qualified for the Quorum Court, a sixth expected, and five to be elected. The five qualified up to 8 o'clock Thursday were: A. C. Monts, A. C. Erwin, S. F. Huntley, A. R. Simmons and Alex H. Washburn.

The sixth, expected to file Thursday afternoon is Ralph Routon.

The denial issue by Senator Joslyn elicited only cynical from the Republican leaders who labored on preparation of the plank.

That was the announcement by key man among the Republican leaders, whose statement was as authentic. However, as the got about the capital and question pouring in at the White House was said on behalf of President Hoover that no prohibition plank been submitted to him, consequently he had approved none, that the intent was committed to no plank and that the man had that to speak for him.

The denial issue by Senator Joslyn elicited only cynical from the Republican leaders who labored on preparation of the plank.

They viewed the denial to allay the apprehensions drys. They have understood the start that Postmaster General Walter F. Brown has five candidates qualified for the Quorum Court, a sixth expected, and five to be elected. The five qualified up to 8 o'clock Thursday were: A. C. Monts, A. C. Erwin, S. F. Huntley, A. R. Simmons and Alex H. Washburn.

The sixth, expected to file Thursday afternoon is Ralph Routon.

Although safety favoring outright repeal is not so strongly manifested in the convention the president made, that he is opposed to unequal deal. What he has agreed to is the "idle-of-the-road" proposal about to stand from the position of the voting unqualified retention amendment to wets favoring the other.

The Moses' designed to hold the wets in line alienating the drys. The general among the Republicans lead is that this will be the "idle-of-the-road" plank that will emerge from the convention. Two reports are expected to go to the convention. Douglas Murray Butler presumably submit the minority report of the proposed a definite declaration. With Senator William E. of Idaho declining to attend the drys have no outstretched champion of their minority.

"We only ask that all people hear both sides of the question—if they have read the many insinuations emanating from various political sounding boards; then we only ask that they hear Mr. Blackwood's answer before making any decision."

Popular Vote on Liquor Is Urged

Y. M. C. A. Head Favors Reconsideration of Prohibition

LONDON.—(AP)—John R. Mott, president of the World's Alliance of Y. M. C. A. and head of the International Missionary council told the Associated Press Thursday that he would welcome a thorough going reconsideration of the prohibition policy in the United States on certain conditions.

He said he was not in favor of a repeal, but would welcome a popular vote on the issue in no way related to the coming political campaign and that a concrete alternative be presented to the voters.

Although safety favoring outright repeal is not so strongly manifested in the convention the president made, that he is opposed to unequal deal. What he has agreed to is the "idle-of-the-road" proposal about to stand from the position of the voting unqualified retention amendment to wets favoring the other.

The Moses' designed to hold the wets in line alienating the drys. The general among the Republicans lead is that this will be the "idle-of-the-road" plank that will emerge from the convention. Two reports are expected to go to the convention. Douglas Murray Butler presumably submit the minority report of the proposed a definite declaration. With Senator William E. of Idaho declining to attend the drys have no outstretched champion of their minority.

"We only ask that all people hear both sides of the question—if they have read the many insinuations emanating from various political sounding boards; then we only ask that they hear Mr. Blackwood's answer before making any decision."

Martin, Candidate For Senate, Here

Little Rock Man to Speak Downtown 8 P. M.

Thursday

Melborne Martin, of Little Rock, candidate for the Senate, will speak downtown in Hope at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Mr. Martin, a well known capital city lawyer, is stumping the state on the platform "Pay the Bonus." He is a World war veteran, the son of a widely known jurist, and is expected to draw a good attendance Thursday night—the first of the senate campaigners to appear in this city.

Peanut Hull Causes Death of Child Near Magnolia

MAGNOLIA—Wayne Adams, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams, who live in the southern part of Columbia county, died in a Shreveport hospital Saturday from pneumonia caused from a peanut hull that the child sucked into his throat recently. An operation was performed to remove the hull.

A coroner's jury after questioning several witnesses, returned a verdict of involuntary manslaughter and fixed Morton's bond at $250. Morton testified he had turned his head to speak to a friend who was standing at the side of the highway and failed to see the nearness of the two machines until the collision occurred.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Young Blane was an orphan and with a younger brother, Gordon, made his home with his grandparents.

Published weekly by the Star Publishing Co., Inc.

111 South Main Street, Hope, Ark.

Editor: W. L. Washington, Executive Publisher

Business Manager: W. L. Washington, Executive Publisher

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Hope, Arkansas

Under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press. The Associated Press is exclusively responsible for the publication of all news dispatches credited to it or to its members in this paper and also the local news published herein.

It is the "Institution" developed by modern civilization to provide a means of life, to foster commerce and industry, through which the people can meet and to furnish that credit upon government which government is given time to provide." Col. R. R. McCormick.

Charges on Tributes. Fees. Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, telegrams, as memorials, containing the departed. Commercial charges will be held in this paper in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

The Star's Platform

CITY

Apply the features of the municipal power plant to develop the industrial and social resources of Hope.

More city government in 1932 and improved sanitary conditions in the streets and business back-wards.

Support the Chamber of Commerce.

COUNTY

A county highway program providing for the construction of a certain amount of all-weather road each year, to gradually reduce the dirt-road mileage.

Political and economic support for every scientific agricultural program which offers practical benefits to Hempstead county's greatest industry.

Encourage farmer organizations, believing that co-operative effort is as practical in the country as it is in town.

STATE

Continued progress on the state highway program.

Fairless tax reform, and a more efficient government through the budget system of expenditures.

Where Economy Is Needed

THE federal government has balanced its budget. But before you start to cheer, you might remember that the country contains 48 state governments and several thousand city and county governments, each of which has a budget of its own; and all but a very few of them could do with a whole lot more in the way of economy than they have ever had yet.

Furthermore, it is the money spent by these governments that bears most heavily on the average citizen.

If federal taxes go up, the citizens of modest means may have to pay out $25 in taxes annually instead of $10; but his city, state and county governments will take from him—if he is a property owner—anywhere from $100 to $300 a year, and if he wants relief from the “burden of taxation” that we hear so much about it he ought to remember just what part of the burden it is that is the heaviest.

In the main, city and state indebtedness has gone skyrocketing in the past decade. In 1930 the states alone owed nearly two and one-half billions. City debts in most cases have shot up even faster.

And there is a lot more lost motion in city and state governments than there is at Washington. Inefficiency and graft amount to more. A bigger percentage of the taxpayers’ dollar is drained off to take care of “the boys.”

There is, though, one comfort. It has been proved that honest and determined executives can cut down state and city budgets—if they want to!

Virginia, for instance, had a deficit of $1,358,000 two years ago. Today it has a surplus of more than $2,500,000. Georgia recently cut down its state departments from 102 to 17—with vast savings. Main made one agency do the work of 45. North Carolina followed a similar path and saved its taxpayers $12,000,000.

In addition, such cities as Milwaukee and Cincinnati have shown how municipal expenses can be lashed if the men at the top really try.

Those things are worth remembering. Balancing the federal budget is not enough. The states and cities have got to start economizing too.

A Historic Town Can Still Be Up and Coming

UNDER an inspired editorial headline, “No Lilies Yet,” the Washington Telegraph protests with generous wrath against its home city regarded elsewhere in Arkansas as a historical relic. Since the immediate cause of this exhortation to cut out “plaintive sighs and wistful tears” when talking of Washington was an article in the Gazette Sunday Magazine, it seems to be our turn to speak.

Just as distance lends enchantment to a view, a storied past invests a town with a charm lacking to less mature and time-mellowed communities. Proper and natural sentiment makes the history and traditions of this Hempstead county town of perennial interest to the people of Arkansas, who have discernment to realize that what is newest is not necessarily most attractive.

But nobody has any intention of ordering lilies for Washington when tribute is paid to the part that town has played in the life of Arkansas. Old stories of Washington are repeated for the dejection of new hearers, or old hearers who find twice-told tales to their liking. Nor will anybody with eyes in his head for present-day development in this country conclude that because Washington has an enviable past, it can have no future save its historic renown.

Conditions are contributing in several ways to decentralize American business and industry. There was a time when big-town locations were generally sought. Now many concerns deliberately avoid metropolitan areas. No small number of students of economic trends in the United States think a period is at hand when the smaller community will come into its own as the most agreeable of dwelling places for American families and the most advantageous of sites for many types of manufacturing operation.

Such development may very well be in store for Washington. Meanwhile Washingtonians may well accept the fact that their town has a special place in the history of our state. It is no more possible to conceive of an Arkansas without Washington than an America without Niagara Falls.—Arkansas Gazette.

A New Angle On an Old Joke

ONE of the oldest jokes in America is the one that tells how the poor candidate for Congress has to go about his district kissing the babies of his prospective constituents. And it has always been taken for granted that this was very hard on the candidate.

But the other side of the picture came to light the other day, in a little dispatch from a North Carolina town. There, it seems, several babies have come down with such afflictions as chicken pox and plain, old-fashioned itch—and their parents blame it on the politicians, saying that the children were all right until they got kissed by campaigning candidates.

All of which gives one pause. The baby-kissing custom is a bit hard on the candidates, undoubtedly; but did you ever stop to think what a tough break it is for the babies?

A Few “Economy” Suggestions for Congress

Do You Remember?

Mission Dentist Lost in Flight

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Dave Finley, who has been attending the University of Arkansas the past scholastic year, returned home Thursday.

Miss Bessie Phillips and Mrs. L. J. Gillispie returned Monday from Camden where they attended the meeting of the Woman’s Home Mission Society.

Miss Lillian Leslie left Tuesday for Mayfield, Ky., where she will spend the summer.

Prof. Early Wilson is visiting his homefolks in this city.

TEN YEARS AGO

Miss Mary Hinny, of Napa, who has just returned from Brussels, Belgium, in the interest of reconstruction work, is a guest of Miss Maude Haynes, of Little Rock.

Miss Ethel Moore has returned to her home at Gurdon after a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. L. Morgan.

Misses Kella Stone, Lola Bruce, Mildred Brown, Ola Wilson, Leila Stephens, Daphney Spears and Lola Nesbit, of Blevins, are here to attend the Teachers Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Chis. Shiver have gone to San Francisco, Cal., to attend the Shriner’s convention. They will be gone several weeks.

Miss Maxine Stone, a Randolph-Macon student, will arrive today from Lynchburg, Va.

Lion Jumps—Dies

STOCKTON, Cal.—An oil company had a lion in a hotel here for advertising purposes. The lion, playing around in a room, jumped to a window and fell against the window screen. The screen was unlocked and gave way under the weight of the beast. The lion fell three floors to the pavement below and lived only a short time.

PALO PINTO, Tex.—(AP)—A charge that Mineral Wells was given no opportunity by the highway commission to protest designation of the Bankhead highway cutoff, was made Wednesday as testimony was concluded in the proceedings, either late Wednesday or at a night session, John T. Chamberlain, former secretary of the Mineral Wells chamber of commerce, made the charge.

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

BUTTERFLIES

SPEND THE COLD WINTER MONTHS IN VARIOUS STAGES, SOME GO THROUGH THE WINTER AS EGGS, SOME IN THE CHRYSALIS STAGE, SOME AS LARVAE, AND SOME HIBERNATE IN ADULT FORM.

ONE-ELEVENTH of the total area of
MAINE
IS MADE UP OF LAKES AND PONDS!

1932 BY MCA SERVICE INC. 6-11

THE WORD
“NEWS”
CAME FROM THE LETTERS WHICH
STAND FOR THE FOUR DIRECTIONS OF THE COMPASS!
EARLY NEWSPAPERS CARRIED
THE COMPASS SIGN AT THE TOP OF THE FRONT PAGE, INDICATING THAT THE PAPER PRINTED ITEMS FROM ALL DIRECTIONS.

Hope Girl District B.&P. W. Club Head

Jean Laseter Appointed to Responsible Post; Meeting Held Here

At the regular meeting of the Business & Professional Women’s Club, Tuesday night, June 7, at the home of Dr. Etta Champlin and Miss Belle Twitchell, announcement was made of the appointment of Miss Jean Laseter of the local club, as director of District No. Six.

Others making up this district, which active clubs are: Hot Springs, Delphi, Texarkana, Glenwood,ington and Hope.

In the absence of the club president, Dr. Champlin presided over the meeting. A short business session was held at which time it was agreed that the annual meeting of the Sixth district conference be invited to meet in Hope with the Hope club as hostess. Full plans for this convention will be announced later.

A certificate from the American Association was presented, showing enrollment of the Hope club and commended them for having piano Lombardy Poplars in the grounds of the Paisley school in March this year, in honor of the West Bicentennial.

Following the program, the hostess served a most delicious refreshment to 100 members and two guests, who were Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb of Galesburg, Illinois; Mrs. D. M. Stuart of La Habra, California, who was a former member of the local club.

Recent findings have discovered a depth of 30 feet, or nearly five miles, in the Caribbean Sea.

The average maple tree will yield about 15 lbs. of sap when tapped.

Political Announcements

The Star is authorized to announce the following candidates subject to the action of the state primary election August 8.

ARKANSAS STATE For U.S. Senator

O. L. CHAMER

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY For Sheriff

SIMON M. UTTON

County & Prob. Judge

H. M. STEPHENS

For County Treasurer

FRANK W. C. F. ROUT

For Circuit Judge

DALE C. JOHNSON

For Representative

LILLIE MIDDLEBROOK

For Road Commissioner

D. M. (Monroe) KEEL

O. D. MIDDLEBROOK

The

Big News

Is On The Inside Pages Too

Probably you read the front page of your paper first. But think how soon you forget the “news of the day”—and how long you enjoy the things you buy because of some item in an advertisement.

Almost always, there is big news for you somewhere in the advertising columns of this paper. Look for it. Here’s a piece that tells how to make a nice angel cake—a note on the new models of the car you hope to buy next—news of fashions and furnishings, of hardware and hats. . . . Interesting, intimate, often dramatic news that really concerns you and yours.

Remember that size alone is not a measure of value. Often an advertisement in small space will offer just what you want at a saving. So form the good habit of reading the advertising section of this paper carefully. It will save you time and money. It will make your home healthier, wealthier, happier.

Read and you will find!

IMPORTANT

When you ask for a product by name, as a result of advertising, do not accept a substitute—substitutes are offered not as a service to you, but for other reasons.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. Sid Henry

When we're thinking roses
In our heart it's June,
Shadows flee the sunshine,
All the world's in tune.
Rose-thoughts bring the solstice
Of each sunlit year.
When we're thinking roses
Happiness is here.

When we're living roses
Golden glows the way
Leading into service,
Stronger day by day.
Rose-thoughts know the secret
Of our inner shrine,
When we're living roses
Flower o' love is mine.
—Selected.

Mrs. James R. Henry, Jr., and children are guests of Mrs. Henry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ligon in Conway.

Miss Thelma King has returned from a two week's vacation in Commerce, and Sulphur Springs, Tex., and Texarkana, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McFaddin left Wednesday night for Seattle, Wash., where Mr. McFaddin goes as a delegate from the local club as delegate to the Rotary International convention. They will spend a week in Victoria, B. C., and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Smith of Dallas, Tex., were Wednesday and Wednesday night guests of Capt. R. A. Boyett.

Mrs. A. L. Kink and Mrs. B. L. Kautman were Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Park in Fulton.

Mrs. J. F. Borin had us guests on Wednesday afternoon, at her home on West Avenue C, the members of the Wednesday Contract Bridge club, with Mrs. J. L. Boyd of Corpus Christie, Tex., as special guest. The rooms were fragrant with a quantity of beautiful summer flowers and contract was played from two tables. The high score favor went to Mrs. A. M. Key.

Complimenting Mrs. J. L. Boyd of Corpus Christie, Tex., Mrs. J. D. Barlow entertained at bridge on Tuesday afternoon at her home on North Pine street. The reception rooms of the Barlow home were decorated with vases and baskets of Radiance roses and sweet peat forming an exquisite color combination of pink and orchid. Bridge was played from three tables, with Mrs. J. F. Borin scoring high. The honoree was presented with a dainty gift of remembrance. Following the game, a delicious salad plate was served from small tables, centered with sweet peas in the chosen color scheme of pink and orchid.

The Cemetery Association will hold their June meeting on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the city hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Benton were hosts to the members of the Wednesday bridge club on Wednesday evening at their home on South Shover street. A quantity of beautiful summer flowers adorned the room which were attractively arranged for five tables, including one table of special guests. A red and green color scheme was stressed in the tallies, score pads and refreshments. Prizes went to Mrs. Tom Wardlow, Mrs. Leto Becker and Cecil Weaver. At the conclusion of the game, a most tempting salad plate was served.

Mrs. J. O. Mihm entertained at a very delightful luncheon on Wednesday at her home on South Washington street, honoring Mrs. Robert Walker of Tulsa, La., and Miss Mida Burns of Idabel, Okla. Other guests were Miss Miriam Carlton and little Miss Barbara Sue Walker.

Mrs. Bell Lloyd left Wednesday for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Williams in Washington.

Miss Evelyn Lewis left Thursday for a visit to friends and relatives in England.

Six Arkansans to Receive Degrees at Northwestern

The following students from Arkansas are candidates for degrees at the seventy-fourth annual Commencement of Northwestern University, Monday, June 13, at Patten Gymnasium, Evanston, Ill.

Akadelphia: Otto Max Harrelson, master of science in journalism; Carlisle: Ruby Callahan, bachelor of music; Cleo: Augusta A. Latting, 626 Walker street, juris doctor; Hope: Cary Carlton, bachelor of science in commerce; Jonesboro: Edward Tugle, 653 W. Monroe Avenue, bachelor of music education; Siloam Springs: Kathryn Stayton, bachelor of science in speech.

MALCO'S SAENDER
Every Cigar Our Hundred Quarters!
—NOW—
BEN-HUR
—In—
Sound
Coming Saturday
TOM MIX
and Tony —In—“Destry Rides
Again”

The highest honor that can be bestowed upon a girl at U. S. Naval Academy goes this year to Miss Mary K. Douglas of Manitowoc, Wis. Miss Douglas has been picked as the graduation day "Girl of the Colors" by this year's graduating class at Annapolis. She is a student at Washington, D. C.

"CAR JACK" SLAYER

(Continued from page one)

my men, but never before have I had a most perfect case of self defense. Then pausing for a few moments, the defense counsel spoke in a more even tone, as he closed:

"I've got no appeal for sympathy, but this unfortunate man (meaning Harris) was making a fight for his life and should be acquitted."

W. N. Harkness, young candidate for Bowie county attorney, and assistant defense counsel, delivered a 15-minute argument, based around the plea that "he fought as you or I would fight, for his life."

District Attorney Lincoln, making his effort to send Harris to the electric chair in payment for the slaying, said in a deliberate low tone:

"I'll make no impassioned plea."

On the desk before the prosecutor and the jury were the car jack and pump, with which Harris welded the death blows, and the California license tag.

"Law of self defense," said Lincoln; as he swung into a fast stride of talk and his voice became booming before the box of open-panned jurors, "is one of the greatest laws made and is a law of nature. It is strongly in favor of the defendant."

"You could take a man and pretend to be his friend and then while he sleeps deliberately shoot him and you could get the same charge of self defense as Harris."

"He claims to have made the trip from California, the two of them, on $20. Why, gentlemen, it takes 133 gallons of gas, figuring 15 miles per gallon and that is mighty good for any kind of car least at 1927 model T Ford. That figured at $20. Then there were at least 20 quarts of oil, easily figured at $4 and three meals per day about at 50 cents for the two of them, making $7.50. Their expenses at the lowest could have been $31.50."

"Yet he tells this jury that he made it on $20 and still had money. Gentlemen of the jury, Royal had more money than that and the defendant sought that money when he killed this old man in this country."

Lincoln then exhibited the tire pump with the three huge dents in the lower end, stating that the defendant must have hit his victim at least two or three times. Next to go on exhibition was the car jack, which was given to the jurors to examine as the district attorney insisted it was a deadly weapon.

After passing the article down the back row and up the front, it was placed again on the desk, and Lincoln continued:

"We're trying one of the meanest men we have ever tried. Why it's ridiculous, his plea about being afraid Royal had a knife and was going to attempt to assault his person. Why, I tell you, gentlemen, it was the monarch he wanted. He is an arch criminal."

"It is an easy matter," the paper quotes him as saying, "to change the serial numbers, inasmuch as they are not engraved, but merely printed upon the bills."

"Too, I doubt very much that the average bank clerk or teller had the desire the inclination to look for the ransom bills since the first hue and cry died down. I can't see that there is any likelihood anyone ever will be traced by means of that money."

Hutton Denounces Prohibition Laws

Senatorial Candidate Scores Hypocrisy in Opening Speech

BEEBE, Ark.—(AP)—Asserting prohibition is wrong morally and politically, W. G. Hutton of Little Rock, former Pulaski county sheriff, opened his campaign for United States senator here Wednesday in an address advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, and governmental control of the liquor traffic in which the rights and wishes of dry states would be respected.

Midshipmen Pick Queen

A Touch of Color 'Way Out West

She rides hard and long a nasty arist... but Barbara Davis, star rider in California rodeos, doesn't neglect her modern powder puff and lipstick. Here she's seen priming up in true feminine fashion while rehearsing for the famous Ukiah, California, roundup. Note the cold, dispassionate eye of her cayuse.

Justified Fright

"Why do you continue to go with Jack? He's a bad egg."

"I'm afraid to drop him.—Tit-Bits.

Memory's Bad

Much-Married Movie Star: Let me introduce my husband, Mr. — Mr. —

Don't stand there like a fool! What's your name?—Tit-Bits.

Man or Woman?

They were standing before a large painting entitled "Echo" in an art gallery.

"I suppose," said one man, "it is appropriate to depict Echo as a woman, because she always has the last word."

"On the other hand," returned the second man, "an echo speaks only when spoken to.—Tit-Bits.

Parks Supports Bonus Advocates

Congressman Sends Telegram to Camden Favoring Marchers

CAMDEN.—Congressman Tilman B. Parks came to the support of the "bonus marchers" at Washington in a telegram to A. L. Katz, service officer of the Robert W. Jackson post, American Legion, Wednesday. The telegram follows:

"Posts of the American Legion are being misled by insidious propaganda. The thousands of ex-service men here pleading that their families be not permitted to starve are conducting themselves in an honorable and orderly manner. Press dispatches say certain posts in Arkansas are condemning these men as Communists. They have done nothing that the constitution does not guarantee to them."

"My duty to you compels me to request you to take no action against them until you are fully advised. They went over the top with you in France and while I will protect the taxpayers, ex-service men should be remembered now in the hour of their travail."

Wounded Planter Reported Improved

Unidentified Assailants of Randolph County Man Are Sought

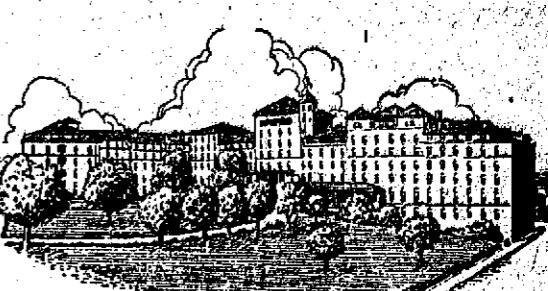

POCAHONTAS.—The condition of E. Dalton, well known planter who was shot by an unidentified assailant Monday afternoon, is not serious. Physicians said that the bullet which entered his body just below the heart glanced to the left after striking a rib, and lodged beneath the skin on the back.

Sheriff Brooks used a pair of bloodhounds from Newport in an effort to track the man who did the shooting. The dogs reached here about four hours after the shooting, but failed to do nothing that the constitution does not guarantee to them."

The attorney general of Missouri has ruled that any girl of 18 may marry without the consent of her parents. He forgot to add, however, that they must be careful that all other bands have been legally dispensed first.

The sheriff also is endeavoring to learn the identity of two men who were seen near the scene of the shooting a few minutes after the shooting.

The attorney general of Missouri has ruled that any girl of 18 may marry without the consent of her parents. He forgot to add, however, that they must be careful that all other bands have been legally dispensed first.

Summer Time Is Playtime

Plan to spend your vacation in Hot Springs National Park, Ark. The world's most famous Health and Pleasure Resort.

The Finest Fishing in the South

Golfing—Water Sports and Mountain Climbing

Special Summer Rates

Kingsway Hotel and Bath House

Open the Year Round

500 Rooms

Garage in Connection

Bruce E. Wallace, Managing Director

DO YOU INHALE?

Silence may be golden

... but is that why other cigarette advertising is generally silent on this question?

WHEN the truth hurts—it's only natural to avoid the subject! Inhaling has long been an "untouchable" topic in cigarette advertising. And no wonder! In every tobacco leaf—even the finest, the mildest—nature hides' certain impurities which, when not removed, are unkind to delicate membranes!

And since, knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker inhales some part of the smoke from his or her cigarette, Lucky Strike developed that great scientific process which removes certain impurities. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? More than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

“It's toasted”

Your Protection—against Irritation—against cough

O. K. AMERICA
TUNE IN ON LUCKY STRIKE—60 modern minutes with the world's finest dance orchestras, and famous Lucky Strike news features, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening over N. B. C. networks.

© 1932 The American Tobacco Co.

YEAR BRIDE

Brookman

"Dan, why didn't I come down there? I supposed it was some place a long way off. Listen, I don't care what you say, I'm coming."

"Now, Cherry! Please, will you please explain? You can't come down here. Something may happen—well, I mean we think it will and it does you wouldn't be safe. You'll have to wait until I get there. I'll tell you all about it then."

"How could anything happen at the station? Why, there are policemen, lots of them. And so many people. I'm not afraid. I'm coming and we can have dinner there."

"Dan mustn't see me like this," Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

Cherry listened eagerly. It was encouraging to hear someone else say the things she had tried to convince herself were true. She was disappointed when, a few minutes later, Hendricks said blandly:

"I'm sorry, but I've got to rush away. Just remembered I was to meet a man at the Wellington. Nice to have seen you again, Mrs. Phillips. Goodby."

It was after he was gone that Cherry realized what she had done. She had told Dan's big story to a Sentinel reporter. Old Hendricks really meant that he was going to meet someone or was he at this very minute talking to his city editor?

"How do you do!"

"I mustn't go on this way!" the girl told herself. "Of course he'll be all right. I only have to wait an hour or so and then Dan will be here. He told me he'd be safe. I mustn't let myself imagine so much. I'll do as Dan said—go out and have dinner and maybe get to here when I get back."

"To put this resolution into practice Cherry crossed the room and snapped on the dressing table light. It was almost 8:30. The face that looked back at her from the mirror was pale and the dark eyes were shadowed by fatigue. Cherry was wearing the dress she had put on that morning. It was rumpled and altogether she was anything but the picture of a happy bride.

"Dan mustn't see me like this,"

Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

Cherry listened eagerly. It was encouraging to hear someone else say the things she had tried to convince herself were true. She was disappointed when, a few minutes later, Hendricks said blandly:

"I'm sorry, but I've got to rush away. Just remembered I was to meet a man at the Wellington. Nice to have seen you again, Mrs. Phillips. Goodby."

It was after he was gone that Cherry realized what she had done. She had told Dan's big story to a Sentinel reporter. Old Hendricks really meant that he was going to meet someone or was he at this very minute talking to his city editor?

"How do you do!"

"I mustn't go on this way!" the girl told herself. "Of course he'll be all right. I only have to wait an hour or so and then Dan will be here. He told me he'd be safe. I mustn't let myself imagine so much. I'll do as Dan said—go out and have dinner and maybe get to here when I get back."

"To put this resolution into practice

Cherry crossed the room and snapped on the dressing table light. It was almost 8:30. The face that looked back at her from the mirror was pale and the dark eyes were shadowed by fatigue. Cherry was wearing the dress she had put on that morning. It was rumpled and altogether she was anything but the picture of a happy bride.

"Dan mustn't see me like this,"

Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

Cherry listened eagerly. It was encouraging to hear someone else say the things she had tried to convince herself were true. She was disappointed when, a few minutes later, Hendricks said blandly:

"I'm sorry, but I've got to rush away. Just remembered I was to meet a man at the Wellington. Nice to have seen you again, Mrs. Phillips. Goodby."

It was after he was gone that Cherry realized what she had done. She had told Dan's big story to a Sentinel reporter. Old Hendricks really meant that he was going to meet someone or was he at this very minute talking to his city editor?

"How do you do!"

"I mustn't go on this way!" the girl told herself. "Of course he'll be all right. I only have to wait an hour or so and then Dan will be here. He told me he'd be safe. I mustn't let myself imagine so much. I'll do as Dan said—go out and have dinner and maybe get to here when I get back."

"To put this resolution into practice

Cherry crossed the room and snapped on the dressing table light. It was almost 8:30. The face that looked back at her from the mirror was pale and the dark eyes were shadowed by fatigue. Cherry was wearing the dress she had put on that morning. It was rumpled and altogether she was anything but the picture of a happy bride.

"Dan mustn't see me like this,"

Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

Cherry listened eagerly. It was encouraging to hear someone else say the things she had tried to convince herself were true. She was disappointed when, a few minutes later, Hendricks said blandly:

"I'm sorry, but I've got to rush away. Just remembered I was to meet a man at the Wellington. Nice to have seen you again, Mrs. Phillips. Goodby."

It was after he was gone that Cherry realized what she had done. She had told Dan's big story to a Sentinel reporter. Old Hendricks really meant that he was going to meet someone or was he at this very minute talking to his city editor?

"How do you do!"

"I mustn't go on this way!" the girl told herself. "Of course he'll be all right. I only have to wait an hour or so and then Dan will be here. He told me he'd be safe. I mustn't let myself imagine so much. I'll do as Dan said—go out and have dinner and maybe get to here when I get back."

"To put this resolution into practice

Cherry crossed the room and snapped on the dressing table light. It was almost 8:30. The face that looked back at her from the mirror was pale and the dark eyes were shadowed by fatigue. Cherry was wearing the dress she had put on that morning. It was rumpled and altogether she was anything but the picture of a happy bride.

"Dan mustn't see me like this,"

Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

Cherry listened eagerly. It was encouraging to hear someone else say the things she had tried to convince herself were true. She was disappointed when, a few minutes later, Hendricks said blandly:

"I'm sorry, but I've got to rush away. Just remembered I was to meet a man at the Wellington. Nice to have seen you again, Mrs. Phillips. Goodby."

It was after he was gone that Cherry realized what she had done. She had told Dan's big story to a Sentinel reporter. Old Hendricks really meant that he was going to meet someone or was he at this very minute talking to his city editor?

"How do you do!"

"I mustn't go on this way!" the girl told herself. "Of course he'll be all right. I only have to wait an hour or so and then Dan will be here. He told me he'd be safe. I mustn't let myself imagine so much. I'll do as Dan said—go out and have dinner and maybe get to here when I get back."

"To put this resolution into practice

Cherry crossed the room and snapped on the dressing table light. It was almost 8:30. The face that looked back at her from the mirror was pale and the dark eyes were shadowed by fatigue. Cherry was wearing the dress she had put on that morning. It was rumpled and altogether she was anything but the picture of a happy bride.

"Dan mustn't see me like this,"

Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

Cherry listened eagerly. It was encouraging to hear someone else say the things she had tried to convince herself were true. She was disappointed when, a few minutes later, Hendricks said blandly:

"I'm sorry, but I've got to rush away. Just remembered I was to meet a man at the Wellington. Nice to have seen you again, Mrs. Phillips. Goodby."

It was after he was gone that Cherry realized what she had done. She had told Dan's big story to a Sentinel reporter. Old Hendricks really meant that he was going to meet someone or was he at this very minute talking to his city editor?

"How do you do!"

"I mustn't go on this way!" the girl told herself. "Of course he'll be all right. I only have to wait an hour or so and then Dan will be here. He told me he'd be safe. I mustn't let myself imagine so much. I'll do as Dan said—go out and have dinner and maybe get to here when I get back."

"To put this resolution into practice

Cherry crossed the room and snapped on the dressing table light. It was almost 8:30. The face that looked back at her from the mirror was pale and the dark eyes were shadowed by fatigue. Cherry was wearing the dress she had put on that morning. It was rumpled and altogether she was anything but the picture of a happy bride.

"Dan mustn't see me like this,"

Cherry thought. "I can't go out looking such a fright!"

She drew cold water and bathed her eyes. Then she took a quick shower, finishing with the water coming down like icy needle pricks. Wrapped in a rose dressing gown she sat before the mirror and applied fragrant face cream and powder that left her skin like warm ivory. A touch of lipstick, the dark curly brushed and tucked into place, and then she was ready for her frock. She was preoccupied and chose the green one she had worn the night before.

"Don't you think it's a great game?" he asked. "Don't you get a kick out of newspaper life?"

"Oh, I don't know. I did for a while, but there are so many dangers. I wish I could persuade Dan to do something else."

"What makes you think he's with Tony Toscalli?"

"He told me himself. I don't know if he's actually with him, but I know he expects to be. He's down at the union station waiting for Toscalli's train to get in. They're going to try to arrest Tony and if they do there'll be shooting and someone will be hurt. I don't see how I'm going to stand it! I'm almost wild!"

Hendricks interrupted to ask questions. Smoothly he tried to reassure her. Of course she was exaggerating the affair. There was no likelihood that even Tony Toscalli would start a shooting fray in the union station. She was imagining things that could not happen.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

EGAD, JASON! I HAVE GREAT NEWS FOR YOU! I HARRR-RUMPH. I AM GOING TO OPEN UP A PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCY! I WILL BE CHIEF OF THE ORGANIZATION, AND I AM TAKING YOU IN AS MY ASSISTANT! YOU NEED HAVE NO FEAR FOR YOUR SAFETY IN THE HAZARDOUS AND EXCITING PROFESSION, AS YOU WILL BE WORKING UNDER ME, A FORMER SCOTLAND YARD INSPECTOR. EGAD!

CUR-MAH HAIR! I SAY UMM GONNA BE A TECTHE'S UMM-AH ALWAYS WANTED TO BE A TECTHE, OR A ACTORBAT!

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

OUT OF OUR WAY

OH, MA! WAITA MINNIT! WHUT YA GOT? WAITA MINNIT! OH, MA!

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

GOOD NIGHT! ANOTHER DAYLIGHT HOLD UP — A BAG TO HIM IS LIKE A BAG TO A BURGLAR!

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I want a book for a man who is laid up with rheumatism, or lumbago—I don't remember which."

Dog Catcher Added to Jonesboro Police Force

JONESBORO, Ark. — (P)—Thanks to the convincing argument of a bull pup belonging to the son of Police Chief Craig, a dog catcher has been added to the city force here.

Chief Craig, with scratches about his face from a recent encounter with the dog, decided policemen have enough worries in apprehension of criminals, without having to double for a dog catcher.

Driving an automobile at 60 miles an hour costs three or four times as much as at 40 miles an hour, the Chicago Motor Club finds.

Rent It! Find It! Buy It! Sell It!

With

HOPE STAR WANT ADS

The more you tell,

The quicker you sell.

1 insertion, 10c per line
minimum 30c
3 insertions, 7c per line
minimum 50c
6 insertions, 5c per line
minimum $1.00
26 insertions, 5c per line
minimum $1.65
(average 5½ words to the line)

NOTE—Want advertisements accepted over the telephone may be charged with the understanding that the bill is payable on presentation of statement, before the first publication.

Phone 768

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Nice five room house. Glazed in sleeping porch. Reasonable. 212 West Ave. C. Phone 422W. 9-3t

FOR RENT—Six room house, North Main street, across from Oglesby school. Call Hatley White or White and Co. store. 7-3tp

WANTED

WANTED TO BUY—Good used saddle for pony. Tom McFady. 7-3tc

FOR SALE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—$3000 equity in modern, new brick veneer home. Six rooms and bath. Little Rock property. Will accept car. Phone 600 or 584.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—One Doile Val cream separator; Singer Rotary Sewing machine. A&P Store. 6-1f

PIANO BARGAIN—We have a good gold Chekerling piano in the High School at Emmet, that we are having to pick up. Will sell it on easy terms for the balance due on it. Write for full information. H. V. Beasley Music Company, Texarkana, Arkansas. 7-3tc

NOTICE

NOTICE TO FARMERS—You can get your sickle blades ground for 35c. Women repaired. First Class Horse shoeing. All blacksmith work and wood-work greatly reduced at Pritchett and Brewer's, the leading shop. East Third street. 9-3tc

GENERAL CONTRACTORS—Expert carpentry, painting and papering. All work guaranteed. Estimates free. Collins and Harrington. Phone 5671 or 518W. 9-3tc

FREE—Piano lessons. If I fail to have you playing sacred music by note and with both hands in one hour I will give you ten dollars. For free lesson address Sam McKelvy, general delivery, Hope, Arkansas. 4-6tp

FOUND

FOUND—A good place to sell those articles for which you have no further use. The Hope Star want-ad column. Phone 768 and ask for Bernard O'Steen.

The Standings

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION

Clubs	W.	L.	Pct.
Memphis	38	17	.691
Chattanooga	37	18	.673
Little Rock	28	26	.519
Nashville	27	27	.500
Birmingham	28	29	.491
Atlanta	21	33	.389
New Orleans	21	35	.375
Knoxville	21	36	.368

Wednesday's Results

Little Rock 3, Birmingham 2. Memphis 5, New Orleans 3. Chattanooga 6-2, Knoxville 0-5. Nashville 11, Atlanta 5.

Games Thursday

Little Rock at Birmingham. Memphis at New Orleans. Knoxville at Atlanta. Nashville at Chattanooga.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Clubs	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	29	20	.592
Boston	29	21	.590
Pittsburgh	23	22	.511
St. Louis	24	24	.500
Brooklyn	24	28	.462
New York	21	25	.457
Cincinnati	24	29	.453
Philadelphia	23	28	.451

Wednesday's Results

New York 9, Cincinnati 2. Chicago 7, Brooklyn 5 (14 innings). St. Louis 15, Boston 8. Philadelphia 11, Pittsburgh 10.

Games Thursday

St. Louis at Boston. Chicago at New York. Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Clubs	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	34	14	.708
Washington	29	21	.580
Philadelphia	28	22	.560
Detroit	26	21	.553
Cleveland	28	23	.549
St. Louis	23	25	.479
Chicago	17	30	.362
Boston	9	38	.191

Wednesday's Results

Philadelphia 3, Cleveland 1. New York 5, Detroit 4. Chicago 3, Washington 2. St. Louis 11, Boston 4.

Games Thursday

Boston at St. Louis. Washington at Chicago. New York at Detroit. Philadelphia at Cleveland.

Moon Swells Up

LONDON—Whether with pride or vanity, Prof. V. S. Forbes, of Cambridge University, doesn't know, but he does know that the moon is expanding, contrary to some astronomers who claim that it is contracting. He explains that radioactive substances within it cause a high internal temperature and the resulting expansion.

Sez Hugh:

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

I SHOULDN'T SPEND THE MONEY FOR IT, BUT IT'S SUCH A DARLING FROCK AND SO CHEAP—FIVE-FORTY-SEVEN

By AHERN

CUR-MAH HAIR! I SAY UMM GONNA BE A TECTHE'S UMM-AH ALWAYS WANTED TO BE A TECTHE, OR A ACTORBAT!

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

OUT OF OUR WAY

OH, MA! WAITA MINNIT! WHUT YA GOT? WAITA MINNIT! OH, MA!

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

GOOD NIGHT! ANOTHER DAYLIGHT HOLD UP — A BAG TO HIM IS LIKE A BAG TO A BURGLAR!

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

French Guiana!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

WHAT IS IT LIKE?

DO YOU SEE THE PRISON? DO YOU SEE THE MUD RIVER? WE ARE GOING UP IT.

AND THERE'S THE NEARLY NEAR GREEN TREES, GREEN SO THIN!

Grand Jury Hears Story of 'Search'

Mrs. McLean Takes Stand at Trial in Alleged $104,000 Fraud

ANY A SLIP TWIST THE CUP AND THE LIP MEANS ANOTHER PUTT!

Virginia Athlete Given Special Award for Fox

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—The University of Virginia has voted a special award to Herbert Bryant in recognition of his contribution to athletics.

Bryant has won letters in four major sports—in football three times, in baseball and track twice and in boxing once. He also played basketball. Bryant began football as a fullback, but last season was shifted to the line as regular guard. He was an outfielder in baseball and starred in the weight events of track. He was a heavyweight on the Virginia boxing team.

One Woman, Eight Men to Represent Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Upon one lone woman has been bestowed the honor of representing Wyoming at the republican national convention as a member of the state delegation.

Mrs. Dora McGrath of Thermopolis will have her place in the convention hall with the eight men representatives from this state.

"I expect no special privileges because of my sex," she said. "I see no reason why women should be accorded any such privileges when they enter public life."

Mrs. McGrath is a pioneer Wyoming resident and in 1930 was elected a state senator, the first woman ever to win that honor.

temporarily while the baby was being returned.

Then Rover told of continued promises to return the baby and later excused by Means, until Mrs. McLean demanded the money back, later bringing in her lawyers. Rover said that Means' explanation was that he gave the $100,000 to a strange man in nearby Alexandria, Va., when the man "identified himself by using the number 11."

Rover declared Mrs. McLean had instructed Means to deliver the money to "Father Hurney, and to nobody else."

"The Fox" Appears

On March 17, after Mrs. McLean and Father Hurney had waited all night in a Maryland cottage of the McLeans, to which Means had promised to bring the baby, Rover said Means told Mrs. McLean that the baby had been on the way to her cottage, but that a decoy automobile, traveling ahead of one carrying the baby, had run into trouble and so the baby had been taken back. Later, at Aiken, S. C., Means brought to Mrs. McLean a man whom he called "The Fox." Rover said, "The Fox showed Mrs. McLean a little street in which he said the baby would be returned, the prosecutor continued.

"I will deliver the baby right over here," Rover said. "The Fox" told Mrs. McLean, "At each end of this street there will be a car with machine guns. If there is a false move they will use the machine guns."

But the kidnappers did not appear. Rover said, and later Means went to El Paso, telephoned Mrs. McLean that "everything was fine," and she joined him, expecting him to produce the baby. There, however, Rover said Mrs. McLean learned of difficulties between Means and "The Fox." The prosecutor said Means told Mrs. McLean that he would get the baby even if he had to have the Fox "bumped off." Mrs. McLean, said Rover, cautioned Means against this, but told him that she had some sleeping powder which, if necessary, Means could give the kidnappers to incapacitate them he, Means, and Mrs. McLean should communicate with each other. Under this code Means was to be known as "Hagon," because Mrs. McLean had a lawyer, Frank J. Hogan. The code also provided that "The Fox," the name of Albert W. Fox, another of Mrs. McLean's lawyers, should sign any of the kidnappers on their bank. The Lindbergh baby was to be referred to by any of three words: "package, manuscript, book."

Mrs. McLean would be known under the code by the number 11, of figures adding to that sum. Means also assigned numbers to himself and the kidnappers.

Telling how Mrs. McLean borrowed $100,000 in cash from the National Metropolitan bank and handed it over to Means for ransom—in the presence of the Rev. Francis Hurney, a Catholic priest, Rover also described how the woman went to South Carolina and the Mexican border in the hope of receiving the baby.

"The Fox" Appears

On March 17, after Mrs. McLean and Father Hurney had waited all night in a Maryland cottage of the McLeans, to which Means had promised to bring the baby, Rover said Means told Mrs. McLean that the baby had been on the way to her cottage, but that a decoy automobile, traveling ahead of one carrying the baby, had run into trouble and so the baby had been taken back. Later, at Aiken, S. C., Means brought to Mrs. McLean a man whom he called "The Fox." Rover said, "The Fox showed Mrs. McLean a little street in which he said the baby would be returned, the prosecutor continued.

"I will deliver the baby right over here," Rover said. "The Fox" told Mrs. McLean, "At each end of this street there will be a car with machine guns. If there is a false move they will use the machine guns."

But the kidnappers did not appear. Rover said, and later Means went to El Paso, telephoned Mrs. McLean that "everything was fine," and she joined him, expecting him to produce the baby. There, however, Rover said Mrs. McLean learned of difficulties between Means and "The Fox." The prosecutor said Means told Mrs. McLean that he would get the baby even if he had to have the Fox "bumped off." Mrs. McLean, said Rover, cautioned Means against this, but told him that she had some sleeping powder which, if necessary, Means could give the kidnappers to incapacitate them

Arranged Secret Code

Rover said that Means cautioned Mrs. McLean against telling her lawyers anything about their negotiations, and provided a secret code by which

Frame G. O. P. Prohibition Plank

They'd just framed a prohibition plank that may have a far-reaching effect on the national political situation. And here Postmaster General Brown, right, and James R. Garfield, chairman of the resolutions committee of the forthcoming Republican national convention, are shown as they left the Washington conference of Republican leaders who declared for resumption of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Hot Cha!

Pasenger: Why did you have your car repainted blue, Vi?

Driver: Well, you know by keen I am on color schemes. It matches the pedestrians' language.—The Humorist.

Margaret Briggs In Exhibit of Art

Hope Girl Has Canvases on Display at Evanston Academy This Month

Miss Margaret Briggs of Hope is one of the exhibitors at the fifth annual exhibit of the work of students of the Evanston Academy of Fine Arts which is being held the first two weeks in June at Evanston, Ill.

Miss Briggs has this June completed a two-year course. Her exhibit includes, besides many advertising illustrations in an Oriental scene.

Miss Briggs, on the completion of her work at the art school, has obtained a solid foundation in the fundamentals of artistic expression and has gained a viewpoint in all branches of art, as well as skill and understanding in technique, and in successfully expressing herself.

Miss Briggs is visiting elsewhere at present but will shortly return to Hope for the summer.

Spelbound

They were discussing the new typist.

"What do you think of her?" asked the manager. "How is she doing her work?"

"Well, I don't know," the chief clerk replied. "But she spells atrociously."

"Really," said the manager, "she must be pretty good. I'm sure I couldn't spell it."—Tit-Bits.

Three-Alarm Test

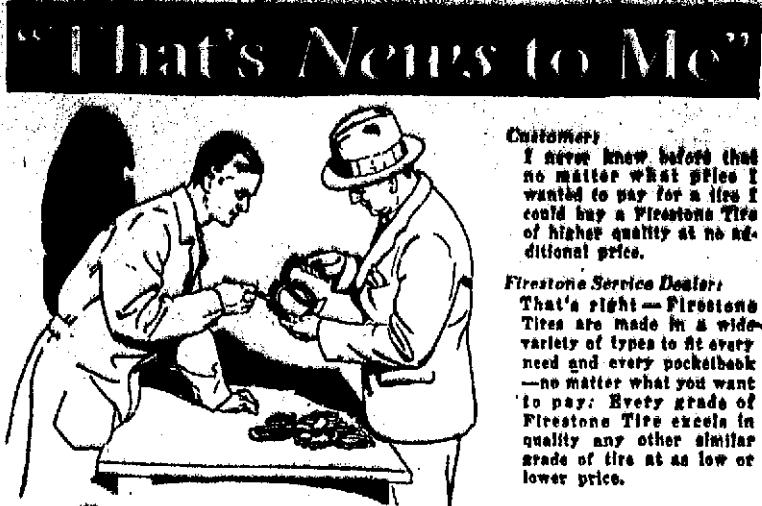

"Now" said the super-salesman, "this instrument turns green if the liquor is good—red if it is bad."

"Sorry, but I'm color-blind," apologized the customer. "Get anything with a gong on it?"—The Humorist.

Well Fitted

Grandma (to grand-daughter engaged to be married): You are young, dear. Do you feel you are fitted for married life?

Grand-daughter: Perfectly, grandma—I have seventeen gowns and three costumes.—Tit-Bits.

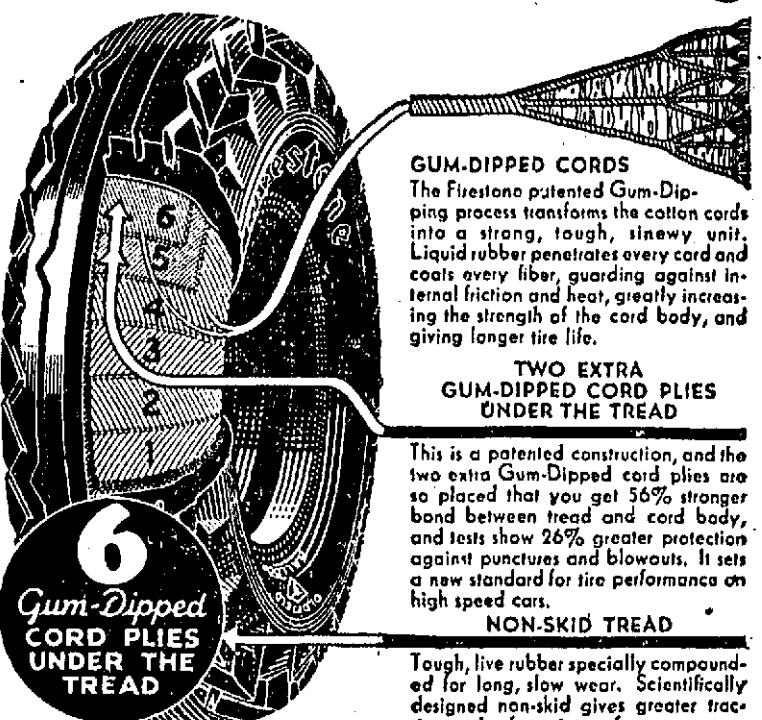

IT HAPPENS every day! Car owners are surprised to find that they do not have to pay one cent more to get the Extra Values in Firestone Tires.

We have a Firestone Tire to meet every price and driving demand—for every purse and purpose—and every Firestone Tire has Extra Strength and Extra Safety and gives Extra Service because of the Extra Values that are built into them—yet they cost no more than ordinary tires.

Come in. Compare sections cut from Firestone tires, special brand tires and others. See for yourself how Firestone gives you Extra Values at no extra cost. Whatever your requirements may be, we can save you money and serve you better.

Listen to the "VOICE OF FIRESTONE" Every Monday Night Over N. B. C. Nationwide Network

Extra VALUES

GUM-DIPPED CORDS
The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA GUM-DIPPED CORD PLIES UNDER THE TREAD

This is a patented construction, and the two extra Gum-Dipped cord plies are so placed that you get 50% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and tests show 26% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

NON-SKID TREAD

Tough, live rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Scientifically designed non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

COMPARE CONSTRUCTION - QUALITY - PRICE
Make of Car	Tire Size	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	Make of Car	Tire Size Heavy Duty	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each	Firestone Oldfield Type Cash Price Each
Ford.....	4.40-21	$4.79	$9.30	Chrysler.....	6.00-10	$10.65	$20.66
Chevrolet.....	4.50-20	5.35	10.38	Studebaker.....	6.00-19	10.65	21.04
Chevrolet.....	4.50-21	5.43	10.54	Franklin.....
Ford.....	4.75-19	6.33	12.32	Hudson.....
Chevrolet.....	4.75-20	6.43	12.48	Imperial.....
Erskine.....	5.00-19	6.65	12.90	La Salle.....
Flynn.....	5.00-20	6.75	13.10	Parkard.....
Chandler.....	5.00-21	6.96	13.54	Pierce A.....
DeSoto.....	5.25-18	7.53	14.60	Buick.....
Dodge.....	5.25-19	8.15	15.82	Pierce A.....
Gr. Paige.....	5.50-18	8.35	16.20	Stutz.....
Pontiac.....	5.50-19	8.48	16.46	Cadillac.....
Rosevelt.....	5.50-20	8.60	16.70	Lincoln.....
Eaton.....	5.50-21	8.75	17.00	Packard.....
Nash.....	5.50-22	8.95	17.25
Esex.....	5.50-23	9.15	17.50
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-24	9.35	17.75
Studebaker.....	5.50-25	9.55	18.00
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-26	9.75	18.25
Buick.....	5.50-27	9.95	18.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-28	10.15	18.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-29	10.35	19.00
Studebaker.....	5.50-30	10.55	19.25
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-31	10.75	19.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-32	10.95	19.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-33	11.15	20.00
Studebaker.....	5.50-34	11.35	20.25
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-35	11.55	20.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-36	11.75	20.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-37	11.95	21.00
Studebaker.....	5.50-38	12.15	21.25
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-39	12.35	21.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-40	12.55	21.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-41	12.75	22.00
Studebaker.....	5.50-42	12.95	22.25
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-43	13.15	22.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-44	13.35	22.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-45	13.55	23.00
Studebaker.....	5.50-46	13.75	23.25
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-47	13.95	23.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-48	14.15	23.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-49	14.35	24.00
Studebaker.....	5.50-50	14.55	24.25
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-51	14.75	24.50
Studebaker.....	5.50-52	14.95	24.75
Oldsmobile.....	5.50-53	15.15	25.00				